

Choosing And using Pheromone Cologne - The Non-chemist's Guide to Personal Chemistry

Have you ever met someone who appeared to have got 'that certain something', who 'radiated confidence' or even 'oozed sexiness'? An amount it be like should you suddenly found oneself more desirable and also appealing to be with, acquiring more positive attention from everyone an individual work together with each day? Simply how much would you enjoy that kind of optimistic alternation in the life?

That is what you can expect when you are using pheromones. But, are you afraid you need a degree in chemistry to be aware of these kinds of products? Well, you don't, because this is actually the non-chemist's guide to personal chemistry. I believe that all you need to know so that you can have fun choosing the magic bullet that will take your social relationships to another level - right now!

What are Pheromones and How Will They Affect Others?

Think of them as fragrances that are designed not only to smell good, but also to impact people in a subtle and unconscious way - the same way you would be affected by being close to a very attractive person.

The kind of pheromone products you will decide to buy depends on the signals you want to send. There are many formulations available on the market, that can generally can be categorized based on their desired effect. Depending on this kind of, they fall into these groups: Sexual stimulating elements and attractants (make you more sexy) Warm and unclear (make you much more friendly, huggable, people have to get close to you) Man of the house (dominant but not necessarily sexual) Trust in a bottle (create trust as well as relationship with people of both sex)

That's right, although pheromone effects are more pronounced with members of the opposite sex, they do have a non-sexual impact on members of the same sex as well. The net effect is that other people will perceive you as being more attractive and pleasant to be around in a number of ways.

- And since the products mimic natural body chemistry, these responses are very natural and unconscious on the part of those people who are affected.
- Some of the people you meet will be more 'tuned into' the pheromones.
- I have found that a lot of younger ladies in particular are affected and attracted to the products.
- Nice to get that sort of attention, isn't really it?

By the Numbers

Here is how pheromones will continue to work for you: Let us assume that you are a woman that guys might rate 7 on their attractiveness scale. What would it be like for you if you are out of the blue perceived as a 8 or 8.5? Exactly what if you were a 5 and could out of the blue be perceived as a 6.5 or 7?

Or, if you are a working man that is always 'just friends' along with women - what would it be like to all of a sudden be perceived as sexier - someone they just felt compelled to hold, to touch and kiss? Maybe you already come across to the ladies as sexually aggressive - maybe too much so. Won't you choose good to be able to expand the trust, comfort, as well as warmth that lets them feel safer around you?

Can you imagine the difference this would make in your life? It might range from dramatic to subtle in order to not at all, depending on the particular person and interaction. But you know you will feel more confident, interesting and attractive and have lots more opportunities and choices in social situations.

What They Don't Do - a Reality Check

So, will people always be driven to you like a magnet from across the room, or crowd around you just to bask in your presence? Maybe, but not likely.

Will each member of the opposite sex be hopelessly drawn to you? Not necessarily - some people just can't handle being around a very attractive person. Their reaction may be to be able to 'freeze or flee' since you are just too hot to handle. Overall, a nice problem to possess, don't you think?

Scientists Are Cracking the Code of Lovemaking Hormone balance and Attraction We have long used the word chemistry to describe how well two people get along in the wild world of relationship. Little did we know how accurate the use of that word was. Scientists are now making daily advances as they work on cracking the code of...

- Will the thing is that a dramatic improvement in your love life?
- Probably, but that is largely up to you.
- However, you will have lots of opportunities to boost this using these kinds of products!

How They Affect You

One of the more interesting and unexpected effects will be the change in how you feel once you start using the products. Because the pheromones affect you at the same time and the same way they are affecting others, and you will find yourself feeling more attractive and appealing - not a bad side effect to have going into a social situation.

When Pheromones Go Wrong - Overdose?

Will it make a very sexy person sexier? There are situations where a little is good and a good deal is not as good. (Happens with regular fragrances, too, doesn't it?) If you already are an 'alpha' male or female, adding pheromones to your chemistry may intimidate some members of the opposite sex or bring out aggressiveness in the members of the same sex as as they unconsciously react to the challenge you present.

Who Uses Them, that Should Use Them

By now you have figured out that pheromones are not just for dating and sexual attraction. You may already remember that psychological research has shown that attractive people are more successful in all areas of life.

Anyone who is in sales, or has a lot of public contact will benefit from using pheromones. And, the benefits to be able to someone who is actually dating and socializing are obvious. Or even, you might be thinking that you want to be able to rekindle the flame and add some excitement to your existing relationships.

How to Have Started

Experimentation is the best way to find out what works best for you. Everyone's personal chemistry is different, and your mileage, as they say, will vary. Fortunately there are a number of samplers and beginner kits available and that is where you need to start.

Experiment and Have a Blast

Try using the same product for several days in a row and pay attention to the reactions of people around you. Try it at the recommended application level, then vary it - add a little bit more, don't use quite the maximum amount of. Next try another product for a while. And, most good pheromone suppliers will have lots of information and advice in on-line discussion boards and discussion groups.

Bottom Line

Do they work and draft beer worth it? Absolutely!!!
