

Pheromones For Women - The truth about Pheromones And Women

While men are considered more likely to be interested in the use of pheromone products, this trend has been somewhat turned on its head recently with many more women joining the ranks.

There's a stronger presence of pheromones for women and in the event that you concentrate on human behavior for a moment, this just makes sense.

The Mating Game

The process of searching for a mate, men are more aggressive and you could be forgiven that the art of goal revolves mainly around men looking for a female partner. Hence the marketing and advertising of pheromone products has been directed at your market.

On the other hand, women are considered a little more subtle in their search for relationships along with the opposite sex but in a sense, are they less aggressive? Wherever am I going with this?

To cut a long explanation short, simply because guys are noticed more when they are on the prowl for female company it doesn't necessarily mean their opposite numbers aren't playing the same game.

- So what's available for the ladies?
- Exist pheromones for women on the market?
- Sure there are.
- It just seems that they don't get the prominence in the advertising stakes as the male product.
